

Are you satisfied with your 60 second sales force presentation?

Was your 10 minute presentation, descriptive, inspiring and memorable?

Do people contact you after networking events? Or is it you, who has to pick up the phone?

Imagine what would happen to your business when you deliver your message more effectively. When you tell stories that your clients will not only remember, but be able to repeat to their friends. When you present yourself in a manner that your BNI sales team will never forget?

If you would like to tell your story in a more effective manner then Toastmasters is a great place to learn and practice your communication skills.

Toastmaster's costs are minimal. Yearly dues are $54 plus a $20 one time fee for materials. Some clubs may charge a nominal fee for snacks or room rental fees. Meetings are generally twice a month and are open to everyone. The purpose of the Toastmasters organization is to help you become a Better Communicator and a Stronger Leader. There are opportunities to promote your business, but the primary focus is on communication skills.

Why did I join? That question is answered in this interview. Just know I no longer have this problem. <http://www.theadamsreport.com/video/Brian-Cohen-Toastmasters-International-District46-Fall-2009-Conference.html>

Why does our District Governor remain a member after 30 years? It is because some things are always constant. Listen here for that response.
